VERY GENEROUS OF THE BUREAUCRATS

The credit restrictions which have put a crimp in business for many manufacturers and made purchasing doubly hard for those who do not have credit, have not been "released" in the word the bureaucrats at Ottawa would have it when they announced that from now on trade-limits would be considered a part of the equipment of the government. They covered by credit regulations on which trade-limits would be possible. This was very generous of them indeed—they are now permitting the people to use their own initiative in the purchase of goods and the use of their own equipment when they have it. And this is not taking on a new unit. Such a magnanimous gesture on the part of the government of Canada will no doubt be greeted approvingly by the people. They might have elected a government which would refuse to let them trade in their used equipment on credit. But they have quite a concession in the part of modern government to let the people they govern have any say in managing their private affairs.

The sad part (for them) about this dictatorial attitude of our Canadian bureaucrats is that they will not enjoy their role overly long. Once people have tasted true democracy they are not apt to tolerate any other way of managing their affairs. And they are now living under Canada at the moment.

TOO OLD AT 45?

Man's life span has been steadily lengthened in recent years by the efforts of men of science. The prospect of a fairly long life has been a cheering one for man in the past—a pleasant thing to contemplate. But now, for the first time, some of them coming from right here at home, that the prospect of a long life may not be so cheerful to the next generation if living reasonably as to the period of man's productive usefulness.

It is regrettable that Lindsay's Council saw fit to endorse a proposal Thursday, hating the age of a prospective employer. They have set a dangerous precedent locally and in so doing have aided and abetted that faction which would have men "burnt out" at an age of 45. It is a dangerous precedent. The resolution should be withdrawn as speedily as possible and certainly the stipulation should never appear in the town's advertisement.

It is a very bad member of Council, Ad. Williamson, seemed to realize that in specifying an age limit, their own years were really putting a time limit on their consciences of meanness. If a man must avoid 45 years of age to get a position, surely mechanical sewage disposal plant, would it not follow that the men who manage the town's affairs should be even more youthful? How many men would be willing to accept a position which would be disqualified if the age limit was set at 45?

According to life expectancy tables, life should be beginning at 45, not ending. What would members of Council have to say to the people if they set a system for all over 45 without a means test? That would become a virtual necessity if every employer were to adopt similar tactics.

It is a very bad precedent for a municipality to be setting and it should be "nipped in the bud."

THE WATER GOES DOWN AND THE ALGAE (IF IT IS ALGAE) RETURNS

It is well recalled that the water in the Green Bay Lake has been dropping back steadily for the past week and on Sunday the reappearance of algae (if it is algae) was noted for the first time in several weeks. As a matter of fact none of the greenish substance has been seen in the Green Bay Lake since the level of the lake was pushed up after it put in an appearance earlier in the summer.

LAUGH IT OFF

The Globe and Mail

French explorers forcing a way through dense African jungles came upon a party of cannibals about to devour a human being. The Frenchman, who was in the party, came forward to greet the Frenchmen in perfect French. When they showed surprise at his command of the language, he explained that he had studied in France; even took two years of French literature at the University.

"What!" exclaimed the explorers, "You've been educated in France and yet return to feed on human flesh?"

"Well," replied the chief modestly, "now I use a fork."

A very thin man met a very fat man in the hotel lobby.

"From the looks of you," said the fat man, "there must be a very large family."

"Yes," was the reply, "and from the looks of you, you might have said 'it'—The Labour Leader."

OTHERS SAY

PINK BECK SOCKS FOR MEN

We got quite a shock on the other day when we read an item which said that Dorothy Tagney, a labor member of the Australian Parliament denounced pink beak socks for men. It wasn't the denunciation which shocked us, but the fact that the socks were added to wearing socks in bed. The lady's objection was based on what she called the waste of manpower making these things which will be destroyed to making materials for defense, or some other more necessary purpose.

We are wholly with Dorothy in saying that the wearing of pink beak socks for men should be stopped, but for a different reason. We have always regarded Australians as being particularly rugged specimens of the human race, and the wearing of these beak-socks in bed, pink beak socks before popping into bed appeals us. All right on the lady's part, but on a man, particularly an Aussie—No!

We have always understood Australia had a mild climate, and even in the kind of weather they call winter, the climate is moderate. So what does an Australian man wear with beak-socks, be they green, pink or tartan?

Our happy Canadian men live in the West would surely be of the kind of men who would wear beak-socks in the winter and pre-puttees to the employees.

—St. Thomas Times-Journal

PLANNED PLACED

Living planned the Canadian people out of beef into horsemeat, and out of butter into margarine, Agriculture Minister Gardiner has now managed to plan them out of eggs. Dispatches from Ottawa say that Canada is now in the first stage of planning to import thousands of cases of eggs from abroad. Over two million dozen have come to this country from the United States and are being distributed during the last few months. More are to follow.

The mathematics of the situation are simple enough. Canadians are now consuming eggs at the rate of 7.7 million dozen a week. But they are only producing 4.5 million dozen. The difference is 3.2 million. Hence, the necessity for imports. But it is really a necessity? Shouldn't this, of all countries be self-sufficient in eggs? It is a matter of record that during the war, Canada came close to doubling her prewar egg production. We not only satisfied a much greater demand at home—eggs were never rationed—but also sent huge shipments to England worth all more than 250 million dozen. Now, the situation is precisely reversed. Instead of Canadian eggs going to Europe, European eggs are coming to Canada.

What caused it? Egg production, stimulated by British contracts, remained high in Canada after the war. But in December, 1949, the British contracts were cut on egg production. With no orders, it was typical. Mr. Gardiner might have encouraged egg producers to seek new outlets elsewhere. Or he might have helped them to go back into the British market for long-term credits. Or banking on the shortage in population and the general prosperity, he might have let the situation adjust itself on what was then, and still is, a buoyant domestic market.

Instead, he introduced a support price which prevented any of these courses from being followed. Producers themselves went along with this policy of cutting their throats, or, at any rate, of the business altogether. The result is that Canada is now importing eggs, evicted both by sky-high prices and foreign imports; a shortage made the more dismal by the fact that it is not the consequence of drought or disease, but of "planning."

But there is something deeper. Why do Canadian farmers go along with these policies—which they may live in their hearts to be wroth—of planned scarcity? The reason is as far as we know all around them, they see their fellow-Canadians demanding and getting more for less; more money for less work, more money for less production. They are envious of the beasts of burden? Why should they alone do their utmost? So they climb on the 40 hour handwagon—and Mr. Gardiner, far from discouraging them, gives them the hold!

There was a time in this country when Ministers of Agriculture saw it as their task to encourage production. Abundance to them, was a sign of success, and scarcity a sign of failure. That was the policy of the early years. Mr. Gardiner works on the opposite principle, and sweeps to dizzy heights by depriving the Canadian people of their essential foods—and the Canadian farmers of their essential market.

PLANNING AND PERFORMANCE

When it comes to bad guessing, Finance Minister Abbott has something of a rival in President Truman. Mr. Truman estimated that for the fiscal year 1950-51, the United States would have a deficit of $3.1 billion. In fact, he ended the year with a surplus of 3.3 billion. His mistake was thus one of $8.4 billion, which is as much as Roosevelt Administration spent for all purposes in the fiscal year 1935-36.

Mr. Truman has guessed badly at least once. Since 1947, he has misjudged his surpluses and deficits to the tune of $25.5 billion. He has also misjudged the price of oil, which he has estimated at $1.6 billion—all of it surplus. It might appear from this that Mr. Abbott is a pikier, compared with Mr. Truman. But when allowance is made for the fact that Mr. Truman was a President of the Canadian one, and for the greater degree of inflation in the United States, it will be found that Mr. Abbott is a much better guesser than Mr. Truman; and at the rate he is going, should soon surge ahead.

But whether he does or he doesn't, the irony of it remains. It has been well expressed by Mr. Henry Hazlitt, the U.S. economist, in a recent article in the "New York Times," which presumes to plan and forecast for everybody, cannot even estimate with reasonable accuracy what it

Presentation at Eaton's Picnic

Miss Maude Reed, a clerk in Eaton's, Lindsay, was presented with a dollar watch at the annual Eaton's picnic on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Reed received the watch from the staff of the store as a gift marking her approaching retirement from the staff.

M-C Tandem Rider Hurt Near Minden

Thrown from the tandem-seat of motorcycle early Sunday morning, Donald Meord, 41, of East York, is in Lindsay hospital with internal injuries, cuts and bruises.
He crashed into a highway guard on Highway 18, 18 miles north of Minden.

The accident occurred when a motorcycle, driven by Alexander Anderson, 18, Bedford Ave., Toronto, went out of control on a curve after striking the soft shoulder of the road. The cycle flew through the air, scattering Meord into the ditch, and it stopped some distance away leaving Anderson to the ground.

Anderson received a couple of deep lacerations, a split lip and an injured arm. He was released from Lindsay hospital Sunday after treatment.
CHP Constable Al Edwards, Minden, investigated.

Some government officials say that 18 million dollars is a conservative estimate loss through ruined farm crops, lost wages and burning timber lands.

Although more than 26 hundred men throughout the province are being the first that spring up at the rate of one every hour and a half. As fast as the fire fighters bring one region under control, another burns into flames.

Forestry service officials estimated that at least 100 fires are blazing through British Columbia, most serious cases are around Kamloops.

Mrs. H. Mellow Addresses Manilla W.M.S.

Manilla (PNT) The August meeting of the W.M.S. group of Manilla United Church was held a week before the start of the home of Mrs. Joseph Clarke, due to the fact that the guest speaker, Mrs. H. Mellow of Ottawa, daughter of the hostess would not be available. There were 14 members and visitors present and in charge of the meeting.

The worship service from the July Mission Monthly "Worship together" was taken by Mrs. Borden, opening with a hymn, followed by the scripture lesson, and prayers were led by Mrs. Rankin.

The guest speaker, Mrs. H. Mellow of Ottawa, chose as her subject "Sewableness" stressing the point that "man is a sewerage" and the point for service as well as the giving of service. Her talk will include the four point program of the W.M.S. as (1) Study—compile our own program; (2) know about the missionary work in the various fields; (3) pray; (4) give.

The daily program of every missionary member, particularly for those members when we know personally. (2) Giving—prayer should be the incentive to give. (3) Study—first the Kingdom of God should be the rule. (4) Work—of our time as liberally as possible to further missionary efforts. Mrs. Mellow closed her address with two poems on stewardship and her closing thought was "We must meet the need and then act on the generous impulses around."

Favorable press notices played an important part in fostering good public relations.

Mrs. Gaudin then conducted a number of interesting and entertaining contests, the first being a spelling match in which the words in the words were derived by position and which created a great deal of fun; a recreation contest consisted of making up a telegram supposedly sent while on vacation using the letters in the word "recreation" as the beginning of each word; a memory contest and I go shopping with a list suitable to the article bought were quite hilarious. "What little girls are made of" provided a lesson in etymology, and was won by Mrs. Robert Wood and Mrs. H. Johnston. A symposium concluded the program.

Pictures of the group were taken by Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Lott. Refreshments were served and social time followed until the guests were driven indoors by a sudden thunderstorm.

Employment Picture Good In Victoria County

The employment picture in Lindsay is good, says Harry Brown, manager of the Lindsay office of the Thompson Insurance Company.

He says that the balance between job and persons seeking jobs is well balanced. At present in the county of Victoria and two township outside are 67,000 people, says Mr. Brown. Last year at this time there were 67,000 unemployed. Of this year's total says Mr. Brown, most are elderly men. There are only 20 women who are seeking jobs through the Employment Office compared to 41 last year.

A few jobs are available in Lindsay says Mr. Brown but jobs are not excessively plentiful.

Toronto, Aug. 15. (BUP) — The Toronto Health Department says it will continue its immunization program despite reports that there may be a relationship between immunization and paralytic poliomyelitis.

Yesterday, the health officer for Halton County Health Unit said immunization is being continued, but suspended until it is definitely established whether there is a relationship between poliomyelitis and immunization.

Toronto health officers say it is better to take advantage of the known benefits of immunization until more work is done in the poliomyelitis problem.

During the morning special teams of coroners will visit the local cemeteries to identify the bodies in the graves of departed veterans.

Culprits Apparently Unable to Make Entry

Coming on duty this morning, Jack Hale, junior of Roby's, was charged with the entry of an effort to gain entrance to the building.

It is reported that a window of the building had been forced, and it is believed that the culprit, or intruder, was the owner of the building.

Roby's police chief, Constable Wood, is carrying out an investigation into the attempted break-in.

The Post Office, which was erected only a matter of three or four years ago, is one of the most modern in the district, and greatly adds to the appearance of the main street of this popular resort.

Mr. Beatty, Roby's police chief, was only appointed to the position this year.

Two Full Barns From 100 Acres

This year means to be the year for the bumper crop. A trip through the country in the Lindsay district is a sure proof of the province now at harvest time would indicate that.

Lately the occasional farmer has completed his harvest and stories of the bumper crop are heard. The size of some crops, Joe Greenman, an Oshawa farmer, reported to be a fairly considerable crop this year.

It might be pointed out that Mr. Greenman is not bragging about the size of his crop but is very pleased with it. He has no corn in the field and he has had his other 35 acres in. In addition two stacks have been cut containing some 25 more loads of grain.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
If we have failed miserably to live worthily, the thing to do is not to ask God to change his mind but to change our conduct. He is eager to forgive and forget, but we just have to square our work with his justice. O Lord, revoke me not this hope.—Ps. 61.

A Charming Photo-Story of Princess Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and Their Children

All set, and momentarily quiet, Princess Elizabeth holds Princess Anne as the Duke of Edinburgh poses with Prince Charles.

Little Princess Anne waves brightly to the photographer as her brother sits with dignified restraint at his father's feet.

Princess Elizabeth tries to quieten her daughter. But Anne, attracted by something in the garden, begins to pull away.

By special permission, Louis L'Amour, of The Standard and The Star, took this delightful series of informal photographs July 20 in the garden of Clarence House, London residence of the Princess and the Duke. It will be plainly seen that, like all children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne are lively and amusing.

She gets her way and decides to investigate the edge of the blanket while brother Charles debates whether to join her.

His decision made, Charles follows the flight of a toy bee as his little sister gloats gleefully at a flower picked from the lawn's edge.

All's well as father smiles triumphantly over his success in finally convincing the children to pose quietly.

More Tourists Coming To Lindsay This Year

In spite of reports from other centers of the tourist industry in Canada that this year, a fall at the Information Booth of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce has revealed the fact that in the immediate neighbourhood of Lindsay, the tourist business this year is definitely better than last.

Mr. Harold Pollock, the secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, after consultation with many of the tourist businesses in the immediate neighbourhood of Lindsay, informs the Post that on an average the tourist business this year is ten to twenty per cent up on last year.

In one instance, the proprietress of a tourist home stated that her business had been more than 100 per cent up on last year, while others had not noticed any appreciable increase. In this case, however, the figures would indicate that in this the tourist business is on the increase.

No Progress, No Apprehension And No Peace

The report for the latest visit to the Korean armistice is the same as the one preceding it.

A brief note of progress at their meeting scheduled for the usual 9 p.m. (KST) tonight. But General Ridgway has a switch of his own. For the first time since the Korean truce talks began—more than one month and 14 meetings ago—Ridgway asked someone to give a general news conference at his United Nations headquarters in Tokyo.

He did not, but he did say that as the 14th session was under way, he was not sure that the UN supreme commander told that the Allies must have a military defeat in line for a cease-fire and that the 38th parallel—demanded by the Reds—let it.

Imperial Tobacco Says No Cigarette Shortage

Twenty-nine hundred workers are on strike against the country's largest manufacturers of cigarettes and tobacco—Imperial Tobacco Limited of Montreal.

Three of the company four plants are affected. They are in main plant in Montreal and its subsidiary: The General Cigar Company, Limited, also in Montreal and the Tuckers Tobacco Company at Hamilton.

Company officials say no normal stocks are on hand and there should be no immediate shortage of cigarettes.

Union officials say they are holding up action on a possible strike of the company's fourth plant at Granby, Quebec. Action of that plant is being held until officials say, "as an act in the hole against the company."

In dispute are demands were increases and working conditions. The A-F-I-L Local 234 of the Tobacco Workers' Union of America represents the workers at that plant.

GETTING CLOSER

We expect the Fall officials are busy these days for the big freeze dates are not far off. We haven't seen the program yet, but it's getting better every year as we count on a good one. Lindsay is proud of having the big hole here and while it's a distinct affair, it is right close to the city. It's nice to have the crowd coming to our town and we'd like to see it ever so much.

Many people like their holidays at that time in the city and in our town.

INTERESTING DISPLAY

We look at the work the Women's Institute in the district display. One gets no end of ideas from them and although they try to have the same assortment of articles, there is always a difference. The displays add considerably to our Women's Section. One likes to see what some of those little things they make, they are so pretty.

WATER FOR THEM

Some of our young ones will have no fear of the water. They know when they are young and swim like young fish before they know it. We watched a couple the other day and they liked being in the water better than on top. It's a fine touch at Kennedy's Bath for them that it is deep enough to swim but not over their heads.

WHAT YOU ARE THINKING

As you take advantage of these, you make no mistake. It's not prizing what you can pick up for a song. Night now when things are so costly a little saving here and there.

GEMS of BEAUTY

In our window you will see a most interesting and beautiful display of gems such as never been shown in Lindsay before.

REAL AGATEs, Sapphire, Rubies, Emeralds and Amethysts. Mounted alone or in combination with your own diamonds, these make very striking rings.

Be particular in selecting and moderating rings.

KANGAROOBURGER

One of these days a Canadian house may ask her guests which one of these is kangaroo or kangaroo.

Homeless, of course, already being alone in a number of ways.

In Australia, besides Kangaroo, there is also the wallaby.

At a dinner at Montreal, the steaks were cooked with herbs, cheese and mushrooms, after being marinated in vinegar and served for a week before cooking.

The Australians love to spend a week in Kangaroo, said to Great Britain and Canada.

Some of the people who have been to Kangaroo have suggested a plan for the Kangaroo — Est. LEARN TO SWIM

Careless!

Newark, New Jersey Aug. 16.—(U.P.)—Two Newark steelplants have written a variation of the theme of the painter who paints himself into a corner. The steelplants, Robert Robinson and George Greiner, were tearing down a 125 ft. skyscraper in an old brewery yesterday. They entered the stack through a door at the bottom. They climbed to the top on the built-in inside ladder and ripped bricks from the stack. They threw them down inside.

The two men were on no saving rope of bricks they forgot all about clearing the stuff away from the door at the bottom. When cutting time arrived they found they were trapped.

They pined. No one heard them. They started to chisel a hole through the wall. Two hours later someone heard screams and called the police emergency squad which rescued them.

COOLING OFF!

If takes a lot of cooling to keep a Polar Bear happy. This largest member of the bear family is smaller than a porcupine or bear but often weighs more than three-quarters of a ton when full grown. To keep him cool, he is covered with a thick, water-proof coat, which is designed to protect him in the Arctic. It's a big job keeping him cool in our hot, steamy atmosphere. You'll never know how good it is to have a whole new world of relief will be opened to you when you understand ocean.

EDITORIALS

REVOLTING JOURNALISM!

The conventional wisdom of the unfortunate incident at Kirkfield by Ontario's metropolitan dailies has disgusted the majority of people who read the various reports and gazed at the pictures recording the incident. It is hard to find one critic the whole industry is an example of "revolting journalism" which would not have been tolerated by any newspaper worthy of the name a few years ago.

No criticism could be too caustic, or no criticism too biting, in condemnation of this sort of news coverage. Has news become so hard to come by, or sensationalism so unscrupulously rampant, or have cameramen and reporters give full play to the actions of a man who is believed to be mentally disturbed? But they make headlines of a pitiful situation such as this and then "concoct" a story which is so untrue that there is no immunity from this sort of morbid publicity for the sufferer?

The road back for anyone in similar plight is going to be harder—why make it any tougher?

THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT THESE SIGNS WHICH SEEMS TO MAKE THEM INEFFECTIVE

What is there about the new "slow" signs which make them so much more effective than the old "slow down" signs which approach the Wellington St. intersection on William St. which seems to make them ineffective in slowing traffic? Are they too high up to catch the eye of the motorist in the time of the day? Are they too small to be seen? Are they just totally inadequate for the job they are supposed to perform?

During traffic at this intersection from the south approach to Wellington St. on Wednesday at two different periods of the day, it was apparent that the new signs were not having the desired effect in slowing traffic. At first, the traffic was slow, but as William St. invariably put on a burst of speed on leaving the congested area behind Peel St. and didn't slacken as they approached Wellington. Later in the day, when the street was taken by a Post representative in a car operated by a Lindsay man who had been away for a while and had not read of the most recent accident which had occurred at this intersection, the Post representative was told that the sign was "What's that, ridiculous," he observed, "William St. is a thorough highway."

This is reasoning general enough whose using this street and, if so, what better can be suggested for making them aware of the need for extreme caution at this point? In considering this problem, it is not surprising that the Post representative, by a sign as they entered William St. that it was a section of a highway. Naturally they are accustomed to seeing a sign of this type at the entrance to a highway and they are not likely to be expecting that motorists using intersecting thoroughfares will be called upon to be careful where the need is greatest.

AN EXACT WESTERN ENTRANCE TO THE TOWN

Traffic is now moving over the full length of Lindsay's newly-re surfaced Kent Street and, except for possible bribe or partial corruption while finishing the street, it is applied, motorists who drive on the full pleasure of a wider, more comfortable road. Very few will deny as they drive over the street that it is a delightful experience after the old, rutted road which was for so long identified with Lindsay's Kent Street.

A remarkable improvement has been made to the street where it links with Highway 7 at the western end of town. The new entrance to the town has been greatly improved and the entrance would appear to have been made safer and easier to negotiate. The gradient seems to have been lowered by filling and leveling into the town to new gentle and graceful. Actually, while a straightener entrance from Highway 7 into Lindsay may have been improved by some, it is doubtful if there could have been much improvement over what now exists.

Allowing it is the trend to avoid severe curves at any point and particularly at the entrance to a town, it is not surprising that the new entrance to Lindsay "severe" now that it has been revamped. And had the curve been eliminated entirely or in greater part, Lindsay would have lost part of the charm of the ability to get into the town. In many, the west entrance to Lindsay has always been a source of surprise and interest because of the abruptness with which one leaves the country behind and enters the town.

There may be those who would streamline things still further at this point to facilitate traffic but it is doubtful if it would be worth the cost. The new entrance to Lindsay is a good one. It is not too much to ask any motorist to adjust their driving to accommodate the present curve which marks the western entrance to Lindsay.

A GROWING PARKING PROBLEM NEEDS TO BE SOLVED

It is obvious to anyone who is out and about on Lindsay's streets at the height of the business day that the town is faced with a rapidly growing traffic problem. It might be suggested that authorities give this problem some immediate study before it reaches the "out of control" stage.

When parking meters were first introduced to Lindsay it was felt by some that they would drive motorists off the main street and injure trade. The reverse seems to be working out: equally as many people use the main street, and the meters are claimed to have done more to help the town than to hurt it. It is not too much to pay for space to procure it in the metered area at more regular intervals. They appear to have served their purpose of keeping long cars off the street without causing heavy drive. However, they have failed, as it was apparent they should at the outset, to improve

HIGH COST OF GOVERNMENT TOO OFTEN OVERLOOKED

The high cost of living is a familiar subject of discussion these days. There is also the high cost of government—often a subject which is mentioned but how often is it mentioned in private conversation? Seldom, indeed. Possibly if people had a more accurate record of what they pay in taxes to be done to them by the government in the way of services which would have to pay on the subject. What needs to be done to make people aware of the enormous governmental load they are carrying. This is the only way to get a true picture of the value of the gross national product of the country. In other words of every $1 of wealth produced 25 cents will be collected and spent by the local and upper governments.

In the course of its investigations this year the Senate Finance committee collected information on the cost of government in the various provinces and the federal government in the fiscal year of 1950. The committee found that taxes and other sources provided them with $4,112,000,000 of government income. The total for the present year will certainly be higher on account of the new national defence bill amounting to $1,700,000,000. The committee also found that the municipal, provincial and federal governments will spend in excess of $5,000,000,000 in the fiscal year 1951-52.

Reducing this astronomical figure to a per capita basis for better understanding it is equivalent to $557 for each man, woman and child in the country. Wives and children do not pay taxes but the head of the household does. They are not paid for the services they receive. The public seems to wish more rather than fewer governmental services and it will doubtless get them. But it is well to bear in mind that they will mean that the high cost of living will be even higher.

THE HABIT OF WALKING

We have been reading about a man well up in his sixties who enjoys remarkably good health. He has no heart trouble, no high blood pressure, no rheumatism, no indigestion, no constipation, no kidney trouble. He has a healthy appetite, active digestive organs that do their work effectively, and never a sleepless night. In fact, he is the last of his kind. The condition at an age where most men are failing. And he credits his physical fitness, his general all-round good health, to regular exercise. He makes it a point to walk at least ten miles a day, rain or shine. A good brisk walk is his tonic.

While ten miles a day is quite a piece of walking to most busy days, there is a great deal to be said for the regular exercise of a man of sedentary occupation finds his vitality low, the usual procedure is to rush for a medicine bottle, swallow some pills, or perhaps, and in some cases, a little light exercise with the use of mechanical pumps and other devices. But these methods are not nearly as effective in tuning up the system as a regular dose of plain walking.

The man who walks for any distance nowadays is regarded as a little queer or funny. Friends more or less make room for him in their cars; they give him a lift out of pity. Even the people he meets on the street are looking the habit of walking. Two or three miles of a walk to school used to be thought nothing unusual for a child. But now it is regarded as a thing they wait for the school bus to pick them up at the farm gate.

We know more than one individual who believes thoroughly in the value of long walks as a safeguard for good health. One of these is a prominent Ottawa citizen who has made a cult of walking for most of his life, and his robust good looks are a large credit to that habit. Perhaps more of us should cultivate the habit, and undoubtedly would if it were not so much easier to step on the starter than to step out into the open air. —Helen Goss-Guest

SPARKING OF LUXURY

A discussion has been going on in our correspondence columns as to whether union officials live in luxury. Such discussions are of necessity rather subjective, since there is no way of making an exact agreement as to what luxury is. The man making $100 a week probably thinks that the man making $1000 is in luxury. But the man making $1000 might agree; he feels that he is, if anything, in straitened circumstances. Luxury, in his view, begins at $100. But he had better not suggest it to anybody who makes that much.

Arguments about luxury don't get people very far until they have decided whether a car, for instance, is necessary; whether drinking and drinking are luxuries; whether it is luxury to have a car which is not the train instead of an upper- or to take any berth at all.

This would make a useful controversy for the the parking situation to the extent that exponents of the motor car have been able to get it into the minds of motorists originally held. The reason is really not the fault of the motor but rather the result of the use of the motor car as a means of travel. It is in this increasing and unprovided for demand for downtown parking space that the parking problem is taking shape.

On any busy day at this season of the year, parking spaces bordering the metered area is heavily congested and travel is slowed down. This is also hazardous from the standpoint of the motorist and pedestrian. There is a chance of course that the situation will partially right itself by more and more use of the bicycle, but it is not likely that it is only "chance", hardly a reliable solution of any problem.

A study of Lindsay's downtown area might reveal that there is available space to park cars which would relieve heavy parking on certain streets.

STAY FREE
We're intrigued with a maple tree in the back yard that is shedding at the lake this year. It is just hanging on the back as it has been for years. The storms we have. We noticed it has been shedding the leaves where no one can appreciate it.

A lovely big cedar passed through Preston Park. The owner thought it was a maple and told the neighbors. We saw it later and it was a cedar. It was likely on the waterfront. Our visitors are finding out just how hard it is to cut the Kewarths and every year more cruises are seen visiting the area.

GOOD STUFF
The young fry of today can really take it if the story is a sample of their craft. Charles Laidley, young driver who originated with a milk truck and pulled over and over with the many broken bottles, recovered enough to go to the Father and Son golf tournament in Toronto last week. He was a winner. He had planned to go. We hope he had a good time. He was with him.
